The missile defense system is our nation's last line of defense. To keep it up and running, you need a partner with the experience and knowledge to understand the stakes: Northrop Grumman. No one in the industry can match our experience in missile defense engineering and support services. When you're as complex as MDA, you need a trusted partner who understands that MDA needs a national approach, not a geographic one. That's why we developed BMDS Enterprise-Wide Solutions. We offer industry leading, complex solutions, day after day, year after year. Because national defense never takes a day off. And neither do we.
